PREFACE.

DEAR BROTHERS OF '63:

In giving to you the result of my labors in your behalf, my wish is that it may be perfectly satisfactory. In 1881 I wrote to A. H. Foster, and suggested that this work be done, and that I was willing to help do it. A preliminary movement to accomplish this was put in operation by David E. Bradley, and circulars sent to every member, and a Class organization formed through ballot by mail, resulting in the election of Nathaniel H. Clement, President; John Scales, Recording Sec'y; Addison H. Foster, Corresponding Sec'y. Then the work was taken up by Foster, and a great amount of corresponding done; the letters he received being forwarded to me.

If facts are omitted, or errors appear, pardon the mistakes and forward the corrections, for the future pleasure and profit of our Class.

JOHN SCALES.

In 1869 he was promoted to the first place in the second intermediate school. In 1874 he was elected superintendent of the public schools of Cincinnati and has continued to hold the position by re-election up to the present date, having met with a marked degree of success. He has been a member of the state board of examiners and was president of the board a part of the time. ["He was the first in the country to introduce into the schools a systematic and graded course of gem-selections from English literature. In connection with this work he inaugurated the celebration of birthdays of authors, statesmen, and scientists, which has since become an important feature of the public schools of our whole country. Dr. Bicknell, editor of National Journal of Education, says that "Mr. Peaslee has done more to acquaint the youth of our country with good literature and its authors than any other man in America." About three years ago he prepared a book entitled "Graded Selections for Memorizing." This work, adapted for use at home or in school, has received most flattering notices from the public press, and from distinguished authors, among whom may be mentioned Thomas Hughes, author of "Tom Brown at Rugby," and Oliver Wendell Holmes. A gold medal diploma and a silver medal diploma were awarded the Cincinnati public schools, by the international jury, at the Universal Exposition, held at Paris, in 1878. He received from the Royal Industrial Museum, at Turin, a diploma of membership, as a token of their appreciation of the work of the Cincinnati schools exhibited at Paris. In 1879 the Ohio University conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. He has been for several years one of the trustees of the University of Cincinnati, and was appointed by Governor Bishop, in March, 1878, trustee of Miami University. He is a life member of the National Educational Association, and president of one of its departments, and also a member of the National Council of Education. He has a wide reputation as a lecturer, especially on literature and authors. He was one of the projectors of the American Forestry Congress, also of the Citizens' Memorial Association, of Cincinnati, and is a director of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. He is very popular among his Masonic brethren, and has filled the honorable position of Past Eminent Commander of Hanselmann Commandery, No. 16, Knights Templar."—F.] He married April 25, 1878, Miss Lou Wright, the only daughter of the Hon. Joseph F. Wright, of Cincinnati. No children.

JOHN MILTON PROCTOR, A. B.

John Milton Proctor, son of John and Lucy (Pierce) Proctor, was born in Townsend, Mass., 9, Sept. 1839. His father was a farmer. He fitted for college at Lawrence Academy, Groton, Mass., and entered college in 1859, and continued through the course. He ranked second in the class, as a scholar. While in college he taught the same school in Gloucester three successive winters. After graduating he taught in that town till 1864; in the summer of that year commenced reading law with F. A. Worcester, Esq. of Townsend, Mass. He was principal of the Moravia Institute, Moravia, N. Y., during 1865. The day after he closed the last term of that year he rode about fifty miles in an open carriage and took a very severe cold. He returned immediately to his home in Townsend and was taken down sick with what appeared to be scarlet fever, but it soon developed into the most malignant type of typhoid fever which had a run of five weeks and left him on the bank of the river of death; he rallied and for a while seemed likely to recover, but was soon attacked with consumption and died on the 18, Feb. 1866.

I have before me a long letter from his mother in which she gives many interesting details concerning his early life and last sickness. He was always in earnest in whatever he took hold off; he was never satisfied till he understood all the whys and the wherefores; he possessed a high degree of mechanical skill; he was extremely fond of music, and could play the violin with great skill and accuracy. When in college he was somewhat skeptical in his religious views, but previous to his death he became a sincere believer in Christ as his Saviour. Had our classmate lived to old age there is no reason to doubt he would have had a brilliant and useful career.

PAYMASTER STEPHEN RAND JR., A. B.

Stephen Rand Jr., son of Stephen and Rebecca B. (Turner) was born at Norwich, Vt., 11, May 1844. His father was a farmer. He fitted for college at Hanover. He married, 22, Oct. 1865, Miss Ellen A. Tasker, of Strafford, N. H.

CHILDREN.—Burton True, nat. 10, Aug. 1873. Marianna, nat. 19, June 1876, obt. 7, April 1878. Robert Leighton, nat. 20, June 1880.

FRANK AUSTIN SPENCER, A. B.

Frank Austin Spencer, son of Orson and Emeline (Porter) Spencer, was born at Bridgeport, Conn., 2, March 1842. His father was a merchant and insurance agent. He fitted for college at the Central High School, Cleveland, O., and entered college in 1859 and continued through the course. 1863-65 he was clerk in the second auditor's office, treasury department, Washington, D. C.; 1865-68 he was clerk in the office of the solicitor of the treasury department. Meanwhile he studied law in Columbian College, Washington, D. C., and graduated therefrom in 1867. From 1868-74 he was engaged in the practice of his profession in New York City. Since 1874 he has been engaged in the practice of law at Cleveland, Ohio. He is not married.

GEORGE SIDNEY TRUE, A. B.

George Sidney True, son of Reuben and Hannah (Duncan) True, was born at Meriden, N. H., 26, March 1839. His father was a farmer. He fitted for college at Kimball Union Academy, Meriden, N. H., and entered college in 1859 and continued through the course. After graduating he attended Eastman's Commercial College, in New York, three or four months. In April 1864 he went to Montreal, and was clerk in a commercial house there; he died very suddenly 25, June 1864. Thus early ended the life of one whose career bid fair to be one of great success. During his sickness which was a malignant type of scarlet fever he was attended by our classmate Pillsbury and had everything done that possibly could be by the best medical skill in the city of Montreal. He and Pillsbury were laying their plans for going into business together in the near future, but death blasted all their plans and sent grief to the heart of every one who knew him. Prof. C. S. Richards, under whom he fitted for college, said of him in response to a letter from the writer of this sketch, "Your friend and classmate, young True, graduated from our school in the class of 1859. As a student, though not brilliant he was earnest, diligent and successful, ranking well in a large and talented class. In some things he excelled, especially in the rhetorical department, in which he had few equals. He wrote in a dignified and forcible style and delivered what he had written in a very graceful and effective manner. His amiable and social qualities distinguished him especially. Few made more friends, or endeared them to themselves with a stronger affection. He was a great favorite in his class and was highly and sincerely esteemed by his teachers."

ISAAC WALKER, A. B., A. M.

Isaac Walker, son of James and Mary (Barker) Walker, was born 26, Sept. 1842, at Fryeburg, Maine. His father was a farmer. He fitted for college at Fryeburg Academy. He entered college in 1859 and continued through the course. He was principal of Pembroke Academy 1863-68; Principal of the High School at Ware, Mass. 1868-73; Principal of Pembroke Academy from 1873 to date. He has held no office of importance. He was the New Hampshire editor of the New England Journal of Education for several years. The Academy under his management has greatly improved; the funds of the school having been increased from $3,300 to $14,800. While in college he was a member of the Dartmouth Cavalry which served under Capt. Burr in a three months campaign in Virginia. His time of service was from June to October 1862. He married Miss Mary P. Smith, of Monmouth, Maine, 19, Nov. 1866.

CHILDREN.—Ralph Isaac, nat. 13, Aug. 1868, obt. 21, Aug. 1869. Mary Blanche, nat. May 22, 1870. Arthur Parsons, nat. 7, Sept. 1872. Florence Judith, nat. 25, June 1880.

GEORGE ALBERT WEAVER, A. B.

George Albert Weaver, son of Lemuel and Eliza Goodwin (Hoit) Weaver, was born, 22, May 1842, at Urbana, Ohio. His father was a merchant. He fitted for college at Urbana University, and entered the sophomore class of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, then in 1861 entered Dartmouth College, junior year, continuing through the course. [He says that he was a sort of "Latter-day Saint," "Climbing in over the back yard fence." After graduating, he studied law and was admitted to the Bar, but has not practiced his profession. He "has done a great deal of short hand reporting of court trials and newspaper work." Has traveled in Europe extensively. Has been engaged in mercantile pursuits in Urbana, also in the management of real estate and investments in which he is still interested. (May '83)—F.] He married Miss Eleanor E. Thomas of Newburg, N. Y. 7, July 1875.

CHILDREN.—Beatrice, nat. 5, April 1879. Dumain, nat. 3, April 1881.

REV. HOLLIS SMITH WESTGATE, A. B.

Hollis Smith Westgate, son of John and Betsey Ann (Clough) Westgate, was born in Plainfield N. H., 7, February 1841. His father was a farmer. He fitted for college at New London (Colby) Academy. He entered college with the class and continued through the course. He was in Newton Theological Seminary, Newton, Mass., 1863-64; principal of high school in Columbus, Ohio from 1864 to 1868; was in Europe 1868-70, studying theology in Heidelberg and Berlin Universities and in University at Edinboro', Scotland. He graduated from Rochester, (N. Y.) Theological Seminary in May, 1871. Preached to a Baptist church in Leavenworth, Kansas from September to December 1871, declined to become its pastor. He was ordained pastor of the First Baptist Church in Westfield, N. Y., in May 1872; in December 1872 became pastor of the First Baptist Church in Kingston, N. Y., remained till September 1878, when he resigned to become pastor of the First Baptist Church in Courtland, N. Y., a church with a membership of over 600, resigned in the fall of 1880 on account of ill health. Soon after became superintendent of Baptist Missions in Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico, with an office at Denver, Colorado. In June 1880 he started the publication of the "Rocky Mountain Baptist." He was appointed member of the New York State Board of Charities in 1880. He is now a farmer at Junction City, Kansas and has a "ranch" of 320 acres. He married Miss Clara H. Minton at Westfield, N. Y. 21, November 1873.

CHILDREN.—John Minton, nat. 17, Feb., 1878. Harold, nat. 15, Oct., 1879.

CAPT. ERI DAVIDSON WOODBURY, A. B., A. M.

Eri Davidson Woodbury, son of Henry and Hannah (Davidson) Woodbury, was born at Francistown, N. H., 30, May 1837. His father was a shoemaker. He fitted for college at New Hampton, N. H., and entered Dartmouth College in 1860, coming from Amherst, and continued through the course. He was principal of Derby Academy, Vermont 1863; enlisted as private in the 1st Vermont cavalry, Capt. O. T. Cushman's company; promoted to sergeant July 4, 1864; October 19, 1864, at the battle of Cedar Creek, Virginia, he captured the battle flag of a North Carolina infantry regiment, for which gallant act, he received a gold medal from Congress, and a furlough for 20 days, and a second Lieutenant's commission; on 2, March 1865 he was struck by a piece of shell at the battle of Waynesboro, Virginia, 9, March 1865 was commissioned first Lieutenant of company B; 8, April 1865 at Appomattox Court House he was shot through the left arm and also had one-half of his right hand shot off while the company was in full charge; soon after he received the commission of brevet Captain. He was mustered out 23, June 1865 with his regiment. In the fall of 1865 he became classical teacher of the Episcopal Academy of Connecticut at Cheshire; for several years he has been Head Master of the school. He was in Denver, Colorado 1874-76. He married Miss Annie A. Jarvis, 8, June 1873 at Cheshire, Connecticut. She died in April 1877.

CHILDREN.—Roger Atwater, nat. 10, January 1875, at Denver, Col. Sanford Jarvis, nat. 30, August 1876, at Denver, Col.

James M. Smith & Co. Boston.

DR. AMOS WILSON ABBOTT,

Amos Wilson Abbott, son of Amos and Anstice (Wilson) Abbott, was born 6, January 1844, in India, where his father was a missionary. He fitted for college at Andover, Massachusetts. Entered Dartmouth in 1859; left in the fall of 1861. Became a member of company C, 16th Regiment New Hampshire Volunteers, August 1861 and served till August 1862. He was employed in the pay department of the United States Army from 1864 to 1868. Graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York in 1869; was resident physician in a hospital there till 1870. Practiced medicine in Delhi, New York, from 1870 to 1877; removed to Minneapolis, Minnesota in 1877, where he enjoys a very successful practice and is Professor of Anatomy in the Medical College. Married 19, August 1880 to Helen G. Wright, at Delhi, New York.

CHILDREN.—Harold Wilson; nat. 6, August 1882.

CAPT. SAMUEL JUDSON ALEXANDER.

Samuel Judson Alexander, son of Samuel and Mary (Nutt) Alexander, was born in Hopkinton, New Hampshire, 23, June 1837. His father was a farmer. He fitted at the Colby Academy, New London, New Hampshire; entered college in 1859, and left in June 1862. Was immediately appointed a recruiting officer, and on the 24, July 1862, he was mustered in as Captain of Company B, 9th New Hampshire Volunteers. Classmates Cook, Greene and Stevens, were also in this regiment, which left Concord, 25, July 1862. He was in the battles of South Mountain, Antietam, and Fredericksburg, and participated in the taking of Vicksburg, having been invited to act as Chaplain of the 8th Illinois of Logan's Division. He received a severe rifle-shot wound, while skirmishing in command of his company before the city of Jackson, Mississippi, on the 13th of July, 1863. He lingered until the 23d, during which time he was removed in an ambulance (ten of his men having been detailed to accompany him) to the Yazoo river, when he died at Milldale, near Haines' Bluff. His remains were carried to Vicksburg by thirty of his company, and on the 11th of January, 1864, they were received and conveyed to the home of his childhood, where on the following day he was buried with military honors. The Concord Daily Journal spoke of him as "A young man of great integrity and superior military abilities, of high intellectual attainments and christian virtues." "He died a glorious death of devotion to his country and cheerful self-sacrifice to save its life and liberty." [He has a sister, Mrs. C. W. Pratt, residing at Concord, New Hampshire.—F.]

JOHN BRADLEY BEANE.

John Bradley Beane, son of Rev. John Vose and Caroline (Graham) Beane, was born in New Bedford, Massachusetts, 24 November 1839. His father was a Congregational minister. He fitted for college at Phillips' Academy, and at Newburyport, Massachusetts, and entered college in 1859, and remained during freshman year. He then went to Michigan University, entering the sophomore class and remained one year. On account of the death of his father, he was obliged to suspend his college studies and went into business as clerk with Captain E. B. Ward, in the lumber, mining and real estate business, and so continued from 1861 to 1870. Then he assumed entire control of the business, with an interest in it, it being the largest lumber concern in Michigan. In 1872 his health began to fail, and after trying to regain it in St. Paul, and Aiken, South Carolina, he died of consumption at Detroit, 24, May 1873. His sister writes of him, "During his entire illness he evinced a truly christian character, his only anxiety seemed to be for those whom he most loved, and for whom he lived. He lived emphatically for others, not only unselfish, but eminently self-sacrificing." He was not married. [His sister, Mrs. Nellie C. Baker, resides at Detroit, Michigan.—F.]

JOHN RANDALL BLACKBURN.

[John Randall Blackburn, son of William and Fanny (Randall) Blackburn, was born April, 1841, in Essex county, Virginia. His father was a farmer. He fitted at Cincinnati under a private instructor; entered college in 1859 and left June, 1861. July following he went to Xenia, Ohio, and remained as principal of colored public schools, until July, 1871, when he resigned to accept the Professorship of Mathematics in Alcorn University, Rodney, Mississippi, which position he retained two years. Resigning July 1873, he returned to Xenia the same year, to act as Principal of the Colored High School, which position he still occupies. He was married to Miss Lottie J. Needham of Xenia, Ohio, 15. June 1870. She died, 23, December 1879. Married Miss Estelle C. Gates, 9, August 1880.

CHILDREN.—Fannie Lottie Needham, nat. 12, January 1875. John Randall, nat. 10, April 1877. Henry Parham, nat. 22, May 1881. (May, 1883.)—F.]

SERGEANT JOHN CAMPBELL.

John Campbell, son of David and Sarah (Mc Kowen) Campbell, was born in Glasgow, Scotland, 12, August 1842. He fitted for college at Mt. Holly, New Jersey. Entered college in 1859 and left in December 1860. In April 1861 he enlisted in the West Feliciana rifles, 4th Regiment Louisiana Volunteers. He served as Orderly Sergeant of Company D, until he was captured at Franklin, Tennessee, during the memorable Hood campaign; the battle was November 24-27, 1864. He, with other prisoners, was taken to Camp Chase, Columbus, Ohio, where he died of pneumonia on the 3d of March 1865. His remains were interred in grave No. 1517. During his nearly four years service in the war he, with his company, was engaged in ten or twelve pitched battles; he received no wound, though half of his company was killed, and he never had a furlough. "He was a brave soldier and did his duty faithfully on all occasions." [His brother, James A. Campbell,—is a very wealthy and popular merchant, at Port Hudson, Louisiana.—F.]

ADJT. WILLIAM NATHANIEL COOK.

William Nathaniel Cook, son of Samuel Cook, of Dover, N. H., entered college in 1860, and left in the summer of 1862, as Adjt. of the 9th N. H. Vol., and went into camp at Concord, N. H. He died at Dover, N. H., 9, August 1862, before his regiment left the State. ["His folks are all dead or moved away from Dover."—F.]

MAJOR RICHARD BAILEY CRANDALL.

Richard Bailey Crandall, was born in Berlin, Vt., 14, August 1837. His father was a farmer. He fitted for college at Barre, (Vt.) Academy, attending there two terms in a year from 1854-59. He entered college in 1859, he left college junior fall, 1861, receiving the appointment of Adjt. in the 6th Regiment Vermont Vols. His regiment became a part of General Meade's "Army of the Potomac," and was one of the best in it. He was rapidly promoted to Major. His regiment did gallant service in all the campaigns up to June 1864, and Major Crandall was conspicuously brave in all of it. In the siege of Richmond, under General Grant, he was mortally wounded on the morning of June 7th 1864; a sharpshooter's bullet entered his bowels and he lived but a few hours. Major Crandall was a man who would not be put aside from any purpose he wished to accomplish; if obstacles were in his way, he would get round them, or over them, or get them out of the way; his courage was never daunted. He possessed a generous and whole-souled disposition; friends always received a generous share of what he had at his disposal. He was an earnest friend and an honest and sincere man; he never professed what he did not believe. He was not a brilliant scholar, but he possessed a noble intellect, which reveled with delight in the classics, and was filled with rapture by poetry and song. He was something of a poet himself, a piece of poetry of his composition, of genuine merit, was found in his knapsack after death. As a soldier Major Crandall had a high reputation among his fellow officers and soldiers. His courage was dauntless. He gloried in exposing himself to danger, as an example to encourage his men. Of the charge up the Heights of Fredricksburg, in which he was conspicuous, he remarked; "To have lived a minute then, were worth a thousand years." He was a Christian as well as a hero, having joined the church in Hanover in July 1861, and he always kept the faith through all perils and temptations. [His brother John B. Crandall M. D. resides at Sterling, Ill.—F.]

COL. WILLIAM GARRISON CUMMINGS.

William Garrison Cummings, son of Joseph and Sarah (Morse) Cummings, was born in Danville, Vt. 3, March 1839. He fitted for college at Danville. Entered college in 1859, left September 16, 1861. September 30, '61, he enlisted as private in the 1st Vermont Cavalry, soon after he was promoted to 2d Lieutenant, then to 1st Lieutenant, in the fall of '62; then to Captain in June 1863; then to Major in January 1864; then to Lieutenant-Colonel, April 5, 1865; was commissioned Brevet-Colonel March 28, 1865. His regiment performed long, arduous and perilous service, being mustered out August 9, 1865; the regiment was in battle 73 times and Colonel Cummings was in 59 of the engagements. He was wounded June 28, 1864, at Reams' Station, Virginia, on the Weldon Rail Road, on returning from Wilson's raid; [the ball entered just in front of his left ear and passed out under the right eye, carrying away portions of the nasal and cheek bones and causing much daily suffering to the present time.] After leaving the army he was engaged in lumbering at Wilmington, North Carolina. In October 1867 he engaged in the postal service on the cars from Boston to St. Albans; he was an officer in the custom house at Island Pond, Vermont, from '69 to '73; has resided in Burlington, Iowa, since '73, and is successfully engaged in the wholesale and retail coal and cement trade. He married Miss Cora S. Pinney, of Holland, Vermont, 3, October 1870.

CHILDREN.—Isabelle E, nat. 5, September 1875.

CAPTAIN OLIVER TUCKER CUSHMAN.

Oliver Tucker Cushman, son of Clark and Abigail (Tucker) Cushman was born at Hartland, Vermont, 5, May 1841. His father was a farmer. He fitted for college at Meriden, New Hampshire, Kimball Union Academy. He entered college in 1859, he left in the fall term 1860. He enlisted in October 1861, and became sergeant in a Vermont cavalry company, which was being organized at Royalton, Vermont. He was commissioned 2d Lieutenant April 10, 1862; 1st Lieutenant 1, February 1863; Captain 17th March 1863; he was wounded and taken prisoner on the 3d of July 1863; was paroled and went to his home in Vermont; his wound was a very severe and dangerous one in the side of his face, and for several weeks he was at Hanover under the care of Dr. Crosby; this was at the time our class graduated. He never fully recovered from the effects of this terrible wound, but, contrary to the advice of friends and physicians he rejoined his regiment in October, 1863. The time of his company having expired he re-enlisted, them and they were granted a furlough of 90 days, which he spent at his home in Vermont. In March 1864 he returned to his command. During the battles of the Wilderness he commanded a battalion and was brilliantly daring during that bloody campaign. He was killed at "Hawes Shop" near Richmond Virginia, June 3d 1864. Had he not been killed then, he would soon have received the commission of Major. General Wm. Wells who went out in command of the Vermont Cavalry says of him; "He was not only one of our bravest, but also one of our best men, and had he lived would have obtained high rank in the army. His company was devotedly attached to him, and his superiors in command, as well as all associates, bear witness to his high character as a soldier and a man." He was not married. [His mother, Mrs. A. T. Cushman, resides at Mattoon, Ill.—F.]

CAPTAIN HENRY CLINTON DAVIS, A. M.

Henry Clinton Davis, son of Joseph and Mary (Hogg) Davis, was born in Goffstown, New Hampshire, 19, December 1835; he fitted for college at New London (Colby) Academy, New Hampshire, graduating from there in 1859. He entered college with the class, left in sophomore year, and became Principal of the Greenville School, Norwich, Connecticut, till August 1862. At the commencement of the war he enlisted a company and was commissioned Captain of Company A, 18th Connecticut Vols. His company did extremely hard service and a great deal of it. Captain Davis was the bravest of the brave in many a hard fought conflict. He was taken prisoner at Winchester and was confined (10) ten months in Libbey prison, at Richmond, Virginia, where he suffered severely from sickness. [Then he was moved to Charleston, South Carolina, and placed under the fire of Federal guns for several weeks. From Charleston he was taken to Macon, Georgia, and from there to Columbia, South Carolina. In November 1864, he escaped from Columbia, and was out twenty two days, when he, with two other officers, was apprehended in Edgefield District, and again lodged in prison, at Columbia. He, with other prisoners, was exchanged in the spring of 1865. Soon after, he resigned his commission and received his discharge in June of that year.—F.] “Out of the jaws of Hell!” was his expression, when he wrote concerning his escape from prison. From September following, he was Principal of the Sachem Street School, Norwich, Connecticut, till the Spring of 1868, when he became Principal of the Skinner School, at New Haven, Connecticut and held the position up to September 1878. He was a rigid disciplinarian and thorough teacher. He was a Free Mason, of high degree. He received his degree of A. M. from Dartmouth College in 1877. He died of consumption, at his father’s house, in Nashua, 6, December 1878. Captain Davis was one of the best of men; he was not a brilliant scholar, but he possessed a noble intellect and a keen judgment, and a generous spirit. [He was married 25, September 1861 to Miss Laura A. Woodmancy, of Norwich, Connecticut.

CHILDREN.—Luella Buckingham, nat. 15, September 1862. Clara Evangeline, nat. 29, May 1868. Edith Lucile, nat. 30, March 1870. His family resides at Danielsonville, Connecticut.—F.]

CAPTAIN DENNIS DUHIGG.

Dennis Duhigg was born in Broff, County of Limerick, Ireland, November 3, 1841. He came to Vermont with his father and sister in 1849. He prepared for college at St. Johnsbury Academy, Vermont, and entered college with the class, and left at the close of sophomore fall, 1860. He studied law at Lyndon, Vermont, until August 1862, then enlisted and served as Sergeant Major of the 15th regiment, Vermont Volunteers; nine months men. Served his time out and was soon after elected, unanimously, 1st Lieutenant company M, 11th Regiment, Vermont Volunteers, Heavy Artillery. He was promoted to Captain, prior to the battle of Winchester, 19, September, 1864. At that battle was his first command, as Captain, and he conducted himself most bravely. In the heat of the battle he said to his men, "Come on my boys! I have never driven you, but I will lead you!" He did lead them and he fell, shot unto death, dying soon after; his last words were, "My last prayer is offered; I die happy," and immediately, expired, September 19, 1864.

HON. MAJ. EVARTS W. FARR, A. M.

Evarts W. Farr, son of John and Tryphena (Morse) Farr, was born in Littleton, New Hampshire, 10, October 1840. His father was a lawyer. He fitted for college at Thetford Academy, Vermont, and entered college with the class; he left before the close of freshman year. He was the first man to enlist from Littleton, at the commencement of the war, enlisting in the 1st New Hampshire Volunteers. He served continuously from April 20, 1861 to June 4, 1865. Soon after he entered the service he joined the New Hampshire Second; was appointed Lieutenant, June 4, 1861; he was promoted to the rank of Captain, January 1, 1862, and while in command of company G, at the battle of Williamsburgh, Virginia, 5, May 1862, during a drenching rain, his right arm was shattered by a minnie ball, while in the act of firing. With great coolness he picked up his revolver with his left hand and passed to the rear, where he remained forty-eight hours in a dilapidated building, without doors or windows, in his wet clothing; he was conveyed to Fortress Monroe and sent home, where he arrived in fifteen days after receiving the wound that deprived him of his arm. In six weeks he returned to the front, and September 9, 1862 was promoted to rank of Major in the New Hampshire Eleventh. After fighting with distinguished gallantry at Fredericksburg, Maj. Farr went with his regiment to the West, and participated in the siege and capture of Vicksburg. After the capture, he went south with General Sherman to attack General Johnston at Jackson, Mississippi, and during the remainder of the war served on court martial duty, most of the time as judge-advocate. At the close of the war he studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1867, and became one of the most successful of the young lawyers, having his office at Littleton. He held the office of assistant-assessor, and assessor of his internal revenue district 1870-3; solicitor of Grafton county 1873-76; a member of the Governor's Council 1876. To the latter he was handsomely elected in a democratic district. He was elected to the 46th and re-elected to the 47th Congress. His career in Congress was highly honorable. He was a favorite in his district and his fellow citizens delighted to honor him. He died of pneumonia Nov. 30, 1880, at his home in Littleton, New Hampshire. In Congress, after his death, memorial addresses were delivered on his life and character in the House of Representatives, February 8, 1881, by Congressmen J. F. Briggs of New Hampshire; Bland of Missouri; Bowman of Mass. Updegraff of Ohio; Shallenberger of Pennsylvania; Joshua G. Hall of New Hampshire; Blake of New Jersey; Sherwin of Illinois. Also in the Senate, by Senators E. H. Rollins and H. W. Blair of New Hampshire. All of these are highly complimentary and award high praise to his ability, his honesty and his patriotic career. He married Miss Ellen F. Burpee of New Hampton, New Hampshire 19, May 1861.

CHILDREN.—Ida L., nat. 26, April 1863. Herbert A., nat. 30, October 1865. Edith M., 5, September 1872. [His family now reside at 11 Union Park, Boston, Mass.—F.]

HENRI RENSELLAER FOSTER.

[Henri Rensselaer Foster, son of Uriah and Lydia Freeman (Pike) Foster, was born in Albany, Maine, 22, May 1837. He fitted for college at St. Johnsbury Academy, Vermont, entered college, freshman spring 1860, and left at the end of sophomore year. He was then nine months principal of Coventry Academy, Vermont; then one year principal of the Trumon Street Grammar School, New London, Connecticut. In December 1863, went to Vicksburg, Mississippi, as assistant superintendent "National Freedman's Relief Association of New York," and for two years was engaged in establishing schools and supervising the work of the association among the freedmen. Then for seven years, from 1, July 1866, was superintendent of the "Missouri Institution for the Education of the Blind," at St. Louis, being re-elected annually. Went to Denver, Colorado, August 5, 1873, as agent for the "Excelsior School Furniture Company," of Cincinnati, Ohio. Since January 1, 1874, has carried on the business of real estate and insurance, in Denver, Colorado, having in connection therewith a mining agency. He was married at Vicksburg, Mississippi, June 1, 1864, to Miss Lydia Ellen Emery, of Lewiston, Maine.

CHILDREN.—Henri Reginald, nat. 15, February 1866, obt. 16, June 1869. Harold Rensselaer, nat. 1, May 1870. Francis Aubrie, nat. 28, August 1873. (May, 1883.)—F.]

HOSEA BALLOU FOSTER.

Hosea Ballou Foster was born 19, March 1837, at Berlin, Vermont; he was son of Truman C. and Julia W. (Strong) Foster. His father was a farmer. He fitted for college at Barre, Vermont, he entered college with the class, and died of typhoid fever 18, October 1859. He was quite a poet. I have a copy of his book of poems, published after he died; it is a small volume of seventy pages. He was a young man of great promise and had in his nature those traits of character which not only inspired confidence and esteem in his friends and classmates, but won the love of all who enjoyed the pleasure of his friendship. Alas! that the germ was so suddenly destroyed whose unfolding might have revealed a noble type of the moral and intellectual; that ere the meridian sun had kissed the morning dew of youth from his brow, he should have been called from the scenes of Time to launch his barque upon the shoreless sea of Eternity. His poems were not written for publication but his friends gathered them into a volume as a tribute to his memory. [He has a brother, Truman R. Foster residing at Burnside, Conn.—F.]

REV. HOMER TAYLOR FULLER, A. B., A. M., Ph. D.

Homer Taylor Fuller, son of Sylvanus and Sarah Maria (Taylor) Fuller, was born in Lempster, New Hampshire, 15, November 1838. His father was a farmer. He fitted for college at Kimball Union Academy, Meriden, New Hampshire, he entered college in 1859 and left in 1860, on account of his health; staid out one year, then returned and graduated with the class of 1864. He was Principal of Fredonia Academy, Fredonia, New York, from August 1864 to March 1867; then was at Andover Theological Seminary one year and a half; then at Union Theological Seminary one year, graduating from the latter school in 1869. He was acting pastor in a Congregational Church at Peshtigo, Wisconsin, from October 1869 to February 1871, (being ordained at Fon-du-Lac in January 1870.) In February 1871 he became Principal of the St. Johnsbury Academy until the summer of 1882 when he was appointed Principal of the Worcester Free Institute of Technology, and entered upon the duties of that position in September 1882. The following resolution was passed by the Trustees of St. Johnsbury Academy:

“Resolved, that we put on record our appreciation of the great work accomplished by Mr. Fuller in organizing and systematizing the school, establishing its character and reputation, and securing its permanent usefulness; also our sense of the heavy loss sustained by ourselves and our community in his removal from us.

He was also voted $500 as a testimonial of their high appreciation of his services.

In 1879-80 he travelled 14 months in Europe and the East. While at St. Johnsbury he brought the school up to be the best in Northern New England. When he left, it had an endowment fund of $100,000. September 1882 to February 1883 he "travelled in Europe studying the plans and methods of technical schools." He was married to Miss Etta Jones of Fredonia, New York, 15, June 1870.

CHILDREN.—Mary Breese, nat. 30, August 1871. Henry Jones, nat. Dec. 12, 1873. Anna Taylor, nat. 27, March 1878.

DR. ISAAC W. HEYSINGER.

[Isaac W. Heysinger, son of Jacob and Catherine (Stahl) Heysinger, was born in Franklin county, Pennsylvania, 27, March 1842. His father was a "farmer and village resident on general principles." He prepared for college at Fayetteville Academy, entered in the winter of 1860-61 and remained till 1863. "Entered the army, June-July 1863, and served in the West in the Cavalry until October 1864; was transferred to the army of the Potomac, as Captain of Infantry; served there till after the surrender of Lee, and was then sent with the 'Texas Expedition' to Texas. Served on the Rio Grande till October-November, 1865, when was mustered out of service. Took a course in medicine at Michigan University and afterward a course in practical chemistry; completed the course in medicine at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, graduating in 1867; went into practice in Philadelphia, where he now resides. He has been, and is still interested in a manufacturing concern, making hardware goods, but takes only general supervision and management, the superintendency and details being in other hands. The concern is successful and prosperous. Also interested in mining (practical, not speculative) in New Mexico—hold extensive properties, copper, gold, lead and silver. The companies, of which he is at present the chief officer in both, are numerically small, but the members are mostly well known, and the work promises well. Has done some Literary and Dramatic work, but don't brag about it, as nobody else does, may do more." He married Miss Laura A. Downey of Fayetteville, Pennsylvania, 28, October 1869.

CHILDREN.—Ernest Winter, 10 years old. Evalyn Laura, 8 years old. James Downey, 5½ years old. Estella Catherine, 4 years old. (May 1883.)—F.] ed at New York city, in the 53d Massachusetts Volunteers, serving his time. He was wounded in the right eye in the charge on Port Hudson, 14, June 1863. In October, 1863, was commissioned second Lieutenant in the 57th Massachusetts Veteran Volunteers; was promoted to first Lieutenant and Captain, and served as Aide-de-Camp and Provost Marshal on the staff of Major-General Nelson O. Miles, and was breveted Major, for gallant and meritorious services, serving by special order of the war department, over one year after the war closed. Graduated in medicine at the Harvard Medical College, and has practiced medicine and surgery in Fitchburg, Massachusetts since 1870. He married Miss Georgia L. Bemis, of Huntington, Massachusetts, 14, June 1871.

CHILDREN.—Alfred O., nat. 20, July 1874. Edward, nat. 31, July 1878. (May, 1883) —F.]

STEPHEN BLANCHARD KENRICK.

[Stephen Blanchard Kenrick, son of Stephen Kenrick, was born at Franklin, New Hampshire. He entered college freshman spring, and left at the end of the term. Has been connected with rail roads for years, with a reputation of success. Is now superintendent of a road in Iowa, with headquarters at Ft. Madison, that state. He is married.—F.]

DR. EDWIN AUGUSTUS KNIGHT, M. D.

Edwin Augustus Knight, son of Luther M., and Charlotte (Tilton) Knight, was born in Thornton, New Hampshire, 24, April 1843. His father was a physician. He fitted for college at Franklin, New Hampshire. He entered college in the spring term 1860, and left in the fall of 1861. He entered the United States service as hospital steward, 5th New Hampshire Volunteers, of which regiment his father was surgeon; remained in the army till close of war. Attended one course of lectures at Bowdoin Medical College, Maine, and two terms at New York University, graduating thereat in June 1866. Resided in Millbury and Woburn, Massachusetts, for a short time and then located in Lebanon, New Hampshire, in September 1868, where he has since remained in successful Homeopathic practice. He married Miss Mary C. Whittier, of White River Junction, Vermont, 17, November 1869.

CHILDREN.—Bessie M., nat. 19, September 1871. Barbara, nat. 23, January 1880.

CHARLES E. MARSTON.

Charles E. Marston, son of Eben and Lydia (Dearborn) Marston, was born at Deerfield, New Hampshire, 31, October 1837. His father was a farmer. He fitted for college at New Hampton and Pembroke, (N. H.) Academies. He entered college with the class in 1859, and left in January 1861. He was a clerk in the Naval office at New York from June 1861 to April 1864. Since then he has been in business in Wall Street, New York City. He is not married.

GEORGE KIMBALL MARTIN.

George Kimball Martin, son of William Martin, was born in Bradford, New Hampshire, about 1840. He fitted for college at New London (Colby) Academy, New Hampshire; he entered college in 1859 and remained two years. In the spring of 1861 he was appointed cadet at the West Point Military Academy, remained two years, then left on account of ill health; he died of consumption, in Havana, Cuba, 15, January 1864. He was an excellent scholar, a keen writer and humorous poet, and one of the best of men. He and Hamilton went to West Point together.

REV. W. AUGUSTUS M. McMATH.

W. Augustus M. McMath was born at Birmingham, Alabama, about 1840. He was sent North by his guardian, Mr. T. J. Edmondson, and fitted for college at Randolph, Vermont. He entered college in 1859 and left in the fall of 1860. He returned South and served four years in the confederate army. He was severely wounded at three different times; once a bullet struck his eye brow, passing through his cheek bone and slashed the corner of his mouth, leaving an ugly looking scar; another time he was shot through his left side; another ball struck his shoulder blade and lodged in his chest, from which it was taken out, where the second ball cut through his side. After the war he was engaged in teaching school and preaching (having been ordained a Baptist minister) until his death at Birmingham, Alabama, 18, September 1872, aged 32, being there for medical treatment. His residence was Winona, Mississippi, where his widow, Mrs. Ella McMath, now resides. Letters from there speak very highly of him as a teacher, preacher and a noble, kind hearted man. His death was caused by the wounds received in the war. He was married in 1868. His widow, three daughters and one son survive him.

ALEXANDER COUPER MCKOWEN

Alexander Couper McKowen, son of John and Mary (Langford) McKowen, was born in Jackson, Louisiana, 17, July 1843. His father was a merchant.
